

31 August 1945

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have known Adolph Kleinmann and his brother, Peter, since 13 June 1945, when my battalion established a Prisoner of War camp at the former concentration camp at Flossenburg, Bavaria. At that time I learned that both had been inmates in the concentration camp up to the time our troops overran the camp and liberated the inmates.

Since 13 June 1945 both Adolph and Peter Kleinmann have worked with my officers and men in the operation of the Prisoner of War camp, giving us valuable assistance in many ways. Because of his linguistic abilities and accomplishments, Adolph has been particularly valuable to us in dealing with various peoples--prisoners, civilians, displaced persons of many nationalities, and the like. At all times he has done excellent work and has never hesitated to do his utmost whenever called upon by myself or members of my staff, regardless of personal interest or convenience. So far as I know he has at all times conducted himself in an honest and honorable manner.

I should not hesitate to recommend either Adolph or Peter Kleinmann for any position of responsibility or trust in keeping with their training, experience and capabilities.

Merritt N. Warden
MERRITT N. Warden,
Lt Colonel, Infantry,
U. S. Army.

31 August 1945

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have known Adolph Kleinmann and his brother, Peter, since 13 June 1945, when my battalion established a prisoner of war camp at the former concentration camp at Plossenburg, Bavaria. At that time I learned that both had been inmates in the concentration camp up to the time our troops overran the camp and liberated the inmates.

Since 13 June 1945 both Adolph and Peter Kleinmann have worked with my officers and men in the operation of the Prisoner of War camp, giving us valuable assistance in many ways. Because of his linguistic abilities and accomplishments, Adolph has been particularly valuable to us in dealing with various peoples--prisoners, civilians, displaced persons of many nationalities, and the like. At all times he has done excellent work and has never hesitated to do his utmost whenever called upon by myself or members of my staff, regardless of personal interest or convenience. So far as I know he has at all times conducted himself in an honest and honorable manner.

I should not hesitate to recommend either Adolph or Peter Kleinmann for any position of responsibility or trust in keeping with their training, experience and capabilities.

Merritt N. Warden
MERRITT N. WARDEN,
Lt Colonel, Infantry,
U. S. Army.